Status

Ongoing work commitments can make contributing to this unit (as well as my three other units) challenging, on occasion. However, I have still been able to accomplish all of the tasks which have been assigned to me up until this point. Should I begin to fail to meet these commitments, I will communicate with my employer to perhaps reduce my scheduled hours to a more manageable amount.

Highlights

- Devised outline for the contents of the Software Requirements Specification (SRS). The main sections include: "Introduction", "Overall Description", "External Interface Requirements", "Functional Requirements" and "Non-Functional Requirements".
- In addition, provided outline of the applicable sub-sections for each of the aforementioned sections
- Actively took part in brainstorming Functional and Non-Functional Requirements for the application
- Formally defined said requirements and;
- In order to resolve ambiguity, made necessary revisions once requirements were identified

Reflection

The Software Requirements Specification was delivered to the client without unmanageable difficulty. Given the fact that requirements defining was completely collaboratively (as well as the majority of the document) virtually all ambiguity has been resolved and the team is on the same page in regards to the requirements of both the application and ourselves as developers.
